A DAY OF STORMS.

Great Damage Done East of the Mississippi.

WISCONSIN SUFFERS SEVERELY

Heat, Lightning, Rain and Wind Combine to Make Life Unpleasant and Uncertain—Many Persons Killed.

SPARTA, Wis., July 9.—A terrible cyclone swept over this place last evening with great destruction to farm houses and farms. Several churches were badly [illegible]. Fourteen cars at the St. Paul depot were blown from the track and several derailed at the Northwestern depot. Trains have been delayed by these accidents. No reports received from the country.

PARTICULARS OF THE STORM.

To-night reports of damage from last night's storm continue to come in and the indications are that it will not be several days before all the small towns in the interior will be heard from. The storm appears to have passed entirely across the state diagonally from northwest to southeast. At Sparta, which city appeared to have been the greatest sufferer, the storm raged for over an hour, during the greater part of which time the air was filled with falling trees and flying debris. Although no lives are reported lost, many narrow escapes are reported from falling buildings. Along Court street a scene of desolation prevailed. Buildings were wrecked, and very fine shade trees torn from their roots, sidewalks demolished and fences blown down. Several fine residences and a number of the most [illegible] buildings are masses of ruins. Further reports place the loss well up in the thousands of dollars. No estimate at this point is made.

At Plainfield the storm was the most terrific ever seen. A large number of buildings were blown down or unroofed and freight cars were smashed to splinters.

Fort Edwards, in Wood county, had a planing mill, store and five dwellings blown out of sight. Lumber was scattered to the winds and other property injured.

At Edgerton not less than 200 tobacco sheds were demolished. Houses, barns and other buildings suffered a like fate, and considerable live stock was killed.

A new Catholic church, a flax mill, residences and barns were destroyed at Appleton.

About Stockton, the scene of the great tobacco warehouse fire of last Sunday, tobacco sheds, houses and barns were demolished and a large number of horses and cattle were killed.

From small towns reports of the storm's destruction are received, but very few estimates of actual loss are made.

Great damage was done by lightning. At Whitewater, Fall River, and Elroy the loss by lightning was particularly severe.

At Dexterville, Wood county, the loss by wind and lightning will not fall short of $10,000, and at Wellsville, twenty miles north, the loss is also severe. In all sections of the state crops have suffered great injury.

GREAT DAMAGE AT OSHKOSH.

CHICAGO, July 9.—Inter Ocean Oshkosh special: Last evening a cyclone and a waterspout of terrific velocity met twelve miles south of here and swept along the river, mill and lumber districts. It struck this city with terrible violence and hundreds of houses were wholly or partially demolished. Among the large buildings which are now a heap of ruins are the exposition building and St. Paul's and St. Peter's churches. Two persons are reported killed and twenty hurt. Many families are homeless, and much property was destroyed.

STORM IN MINNESOTA.

ST. PAUL, July 9.—Specials say a terrific wind and rain storm visited the western and southern sections of the state last evening. In some places the storm took the shape of a cyclone, destroying everything in its path. Crops suffered most, whole fields being destroyed.

HEAVY RAIN FALL.

OSKALOOSA, Iowa, July 9.—The greatest rain storm for many years raged here yesterday. Over five inches fell. Many bridges were washed out and bottoms overflowed. England's new business block was completely wrecked.

ALONG THE ATLANTIC.

Great Damage Done by Wind, Rain and Lightning—Many People Prostrated.

NEW YORK, July [illegible].—Dispatches received here to-night show that marked meteorological disturbances were experienced at different times during the day along the entire Atlantic coast almost from the mouth of the St. Lawrence to the mouth of the Mississippi. In this city the day was very hot and the atmosphere close and sticky. Only those who were compelled were out and they mopped their faces and sought the shady side of streets. A number of people were prostrated by heat. The temperature continued to mount until [illegible] o'clock, when it marked [illegible] degrees.

At Dover, New Hampshire, the mercury ranged from 9[illegible] to 106 in the shade. Several persons were prostrated.

There was a wind storm at Waterbury Center, Vermont. Two barns were blown down and two girls buried in the ruins. They are in a critical condition.

At Nyack, New York, an excursion barge with 700 Sunday school children on board had its roof blown off and a panic resulted which threatened the most serious results for a time. Several persons attempted to jump overboard.

At Waterbury, Vermont, there was a cyclone at 1:30 and considerable damage was done to houses and trees. A covered bridge [illegible] feet long was blown into the Winooski river.

At Baltimore the temperature was 94 and there was one sunstroke.

At Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, there was a terrific storm accompanied by thunder and lightning. Seven persons were more or less seriously shocked by lightning, and in the country crops were damaged by wind and rain.

At Lowell, Massachusetts, there was a storm of rain, wind and lightning. Lightning ran into a tower in which all the telegraph and telephone wires were concentrated, setting it on fire and destroying the telephone and telegraph system of the city for a time. Several buildings were blown down and others struck by lightning.

At New Orleans there was a storm in the morning during which a house in course of erection was struck. Two boys were in it at the time. One was killed and another badly stunned.

At Scranton and Carbondale, Pennsylvania, considerable damage was done by lightning. A tree was blown across the track of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Hudson railway and a passenger train ran into it and was wrecked. No one was hurt. A number of dwellings were struck and several persons shocked.

At Burlington, Vt., buildings were unroofed, trees blown down and much damage done. Lightning struck in many places and several horses were killed. Telegraph and telephone poles were generally blown down. It is reported that some lives were lost on the lake.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

SENATOR TELLER'S OPINION.

CHICAGO, July [illegible].—Senator Teller of Colorado, who has been at the Grand Pacific for the past twenty-four hours en route from Washington, when asked if there was a possibility of a conflict between the president and senate with regard to confirmations, said there would probably be some trouble.

"If the president removes officers simply because they are republicans," he said, "and fills them with members of his own party, there will be no complaint and no difficulty, but entanglements are likely to arise where, under the transparent device of offensive partisanship or some cooked up reason reflecting on the officer's integrity, he is suspended before the expiration of his commission. I do not think the republican majority in the senate is disposed to be captious, but President Cleveland must stand up and let the facts be known which he is now endeavoring to conceal, that he cares little or nothing for civil service reform and wants the offices for party strikers. This veil must be ripped off and it is not likely that he will then pose as he is doing now for the benefit of the mugwumps."

THE [illegible] STRIKE AT CLEVELAND.

CLEVELAND, July 9.—The situation remains unchanged so far as precautionary arrangements down town are concerned. At [illegible] o'clock news reached Central station from the Eighteenth ward that a procession of strikers numbering over [illegible] had just left the corner of Broadway and Harris streets and were marching toward the city. An hour later a second dispatch was received to send help at once to the screw works, corner of [illegible] and Payne avenue, and Lieutenant Rock and forty patrolmen hurried thither. When this force reached the city hall the head of the procession was just passing south. The procession was marching quietly and orderly and on reaching Ontario street it turned up toward Broadway. The men composing the procession all carried clubs, but were evidently undecided what to do or where to go. It was reported that they intended to visit Messrs. Chisholm's office and further [illegible] on the mayor and demand satisfaction. [illegible] hoped they would do nothing to precipitate an open outbreak.

AN INFERNAL MACHINE.

NEWARK, N. J., July 9.—A mysterious looking package was left at the house of George Kinnert [illegible] of this place, by a stranger this morning. It was found to be a [illegible] wrapped in paper, and on opening the box a pistol concealed inside was discharged and Mr. Multhrop [illegible]. The bullet [illegible] but was not injured. No clew has been discovered by which to identify the man who left the box or his motive.

ULTIMATUM OF STEAMSHIP LINES.

NEW YORK, July 9.—A letter signed by officers of the Pacific Mail, United States and Brazil, Alexandre's New York, Cuba and Mexico, Ward's New York and Cuba, Morgan's, and Clyde's steamship lines, has been sent to Postmaster General Vilas, informing him that they will give him until August 1 to decide whether he will carry out the law of last congress, which provides that he shall advertise and contract with [illegible] bidders for carrying United States mails [illegible]. If his answer is [illegible] the law referred to is that which [illegible] $400,000 for compensation to American steamship lines for carrying mails to foreign ports.

CLEVELAND [illegible] TILDEN.

NEW YORK, July 9.—The Herald says: The appointment by the president of ex-Senator [illegible] as government director of the Union Pacific railroad is regarded as likely to put a serious [illegible] on the relations of the Tilden democracy of this and other states toward the administration. A gentleman who stands in the closest and most confidential position with Tilden said yesterday that Cleveland's course in making this appointment was in itself a blunder of a very grave kind, and that in his judgment the blunder was aggravated to the most [illegible] by Cleveland's neglect or [illegible] with the appointment after it was made.

GENERAL GRANT'S CONDITION.

MOUNT MCGREGOR, July 9.—He is looking wonderfully good considering his failing yesterday, said Dr. Douglas at [illegible]. The general, in response to a question this afternoon, wrote: "I am glad to say that while there is much unblushing wickedness in this world yet there is a compensating generosity and grandeur of soul. In my case I have not found that republics are ungrateful, nor are the people."

THE GARFIELD STATUE.

COLUMBUS, July 9.—The Garfield statue commission to-day accepted the report of the committee which [illegible] at Washington and accepted the same. They decided to [illegible] upon the pedestal [illegible] "James A." and have only the word "Garfield" in large letters thereon. Governor Hoadly will present the statue to congress [illegible] and it will be unveiled immediately when congress meets.

PREPARING FOR TROUBLE.

CHICAGO, July 9.—Inter Ocean special from Rock Island: A dispatch from department headquarters was received to-day by Colonel D. W. Flagler, at Rock Island arsenal, to forward [illegible] carbine cartridges in store here to frontier posts on account of the menacing attitude of the Indians.

HENDRICKS GOING TO THE COAST.

NEW YORK, July 9.—A Washington special says: Hendricks left [illegible] for his home in Indianapolis. After spending a month there he thinks of taking a trip to the Pacific coast, where he will remain some time.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

A DARING ROBBERY.

CHICAGO, July [illegible].—The most daring and skillfully executed robbery that has taken place in Chicago for many years was committed yesterday afternoon at 60 Elbridge court, the residence of Thomas Smith, head draughtsman of the Dearborn foundry. Mr. Smith is in receipt of a good salary and has been in the practice for some time past of entrusting a large portion of his earnings with his wife. Mrs. Smith is a stout lady about 35 years old. When her husband left for his work after dinner she was left alone in their apartments on the first floor. A ring at the bell called Mrs. Smith to the front door. Two men dressed as mechanics were standing there. They introduced themselves as plumbers sent by the landlord. Mrs. Smith unsuspiciously led the way to the kitchen. She stood by the door as the first man entered and after waiting a moment turned to let the second man pass. As she turned he struck her a heavy blow with his fist which caused her to fall on her knees. Before she had time to cry out her assailant's fingers were fastened on her neck. The other man drew a long rope from a sack he carried and bound her feet and hands. A towel was drawn tightly across her mouth and [illegible] tied together back of her head. The robbers opened the bosom of Mrs. Smith's dress and got hold of a wallet containing $[illegible]. Suddenly the door bell rang and one of the fellows coolly answered the summons. Mr. Tammany and wife, friends of Mrs. Smith, had stopped to make a call, and while one of the robbers held Mrs. Smith on the floor with his hand pressed over her mouth to prevent her stirring, the other informed the callers that Mrs. Smith was ill and unable to see any visitors. Then he closed and locked the door.

"What shall we do with her?"

"Kill her; that's the only thing to do," said the other. "Then she will never squeal."

"I don't want to kill a woman in cold blood," replied the first speaker.

"You needn't do it in cold blood," answered the [illegible]. "First [illegible] to [illegible] and kill her [illegible]."

Then Mrs. Smith saw the man who spoke first [illegible] the kerosene can to execute his threat. The can proved to be empty. He cast it from him with an oath and cried:

"Let's dump her into the bath tub and turn on the water. She will drown like a rat."

A moment's consultation ensued and then the men went out of the front door, closing it after them, leaving Mrs. Smith upon the floor bound hand and foot and almost dead from fright. Half an hour elapsed before she regained strength enough to attempt loosening the bonds about her wrists. This took another half an hour. Dragging herself on her knees she finally reached the front door. A passer-by was apprised of what had taken place and the police notified. Up to this morning they had obtained no clue and had been unable to caution Mr. Smith not to say anything about the affair to the reporters. Mrs. Smith has been prostrated by the shock and is now seriously ill.

A HORRIBLE DOMESTIC TRAGEDY.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 9.—Word was received to-night of the closing act of a sad domestic scandal at Howden, Warrick county, a little hamlet thirteen miles from here. John Rogers, who keeps a general store, was a married man with two children, a devoted wife and a happy home. When about three weeks ago Miss Emma Shell, a cousin of Mrs. Rogers, a pretty school teacher from the rural districts of Delaware county, came on to spend her summer vacation with them, Rogers lost his head and heart to his fair guest. The intimacy of the two in a short time became very marked. Mrs. Rogers, unable to endure the situation longer, yesterday ordered Miss Shell to pack her baggage and leave. Rogers overheard the conversation, entered and struck his wife to the floor, and then hurrying out with his guest left the house, going to his store, half a mile distant. The pair did not return until evening, when they found the house deserted. Rogers, fearing the worst, began to search and found his wife lying face downward in a water trough back of the barn. In the barn were found the bodies of the children lying side by side and each with a gaping wound in its head. A bloody ax lay beside them, telling the story of the horrible tragedy. Mrs. Rogers had evidently brooded over her troubles all day and finally just before the time for Rogers to return home had taken the children to the barn and murdered them and then deliberately lay down in the water trough and ended her sorrows.

A YOUNG LADY MURDERED.

ATCHISON, Kas., July 9.—Miss Mary Baldwin, who was foully murdered on Tuesday night, was a daughter of the late J. W. Baldwin, once a prominent mining operator of Colorado. She was occupying the family residence alone that night, as she had on previous occasions, her mother being out of town. [illegible] Whether he was in her room at the time is not known. The murderer effected an entrance by removing a panel of the kitchen door and the crime was probably committed in the dark by the use of chloroform. The body was not discovered until last night. The [illegible] will be [illegible] of the case several days.

SUICIDE.

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—Jeremiah P. Bartholomew, an old and well known citizen, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself through the head at his residence while lying in bed waiting for breakfast. He had been attacked by an insane son who attempted to take his life about a year ago and [illegible] fully recovered from the injuries.

FRANCE.

A [illegible] TRAGEDY.

PARIS, July 9.—Paris is excited this evening over a horrible tragedy just reported to the police. Architect Caudry, although married and having children, maintained a liaison with Mme. Besser, wife of a shopkeeper on the boulevard Voltaire, and who had an amiable husband and a dutiful daughter. The lovers quarreled and to-day during the shopkeeper's absence from his place of business Caudry called upon Mme. Besser and with a pistol shot her in the head. He then ended his own life by putting a bullet through his heart. M. Besser soon afterwards returned to his shop and stumbled over the dead. He never believed the stories he had heard about his wife's infidelity, and the revelation came upon him so suddenly that his mind broke down and he fled to the scene raving and yelling his shame up and down the boulevard Voltaire. When he had been overpowered and made to understand, and the corpses were taken away from the shop, nothing could [illegible] why the suicide had [illegible] his mistress. It is thought M. Besser will never recover his sanity.

CHOLERA CROSSES THE FRONTIER.

[illegible], July 9.—[illegible] is rumored has crossed the Spanish frontier into the department [illegible].

SOUTH AMERICA.

THE REBELLION IN PERU.

LIMA, via Galveston, July 9.—News from the interior is to the effect that on the 3d instant General Caceres notified the government that if no steps had been taken by Iglesias to proceed with peace negotiations he considered the armistice canceled. On the 4th instant the entire force of General Caceres attacked the government troops near Jauja. The fighting lasted five hours, and resulted in severe loss on both sides. The forces remained in their old positions. On the 5th instant General Mas notified General Caceres that Iglesias was still anxious to arrive at a settlement, and would name a day for meeting. General Caceres accepted the proposition, and the armistice was renewed. Yesterday a part of the government expedition to Arequipa returned to Callao, and the remainder are expected to-day.

WASHINGTON.

An Important Order Issued to General Miles.

A VALUABLE PAPER ON CHOLERA

Consul Mason of Marseilles Contributes Advice Regarding the Prevention and Cure of the Disease—News Notes from the Capital.

WASHINGTON, July [illegible].—An important order was issued at the war department to-day and sent to General Miles, who is to take the field in command of troops now in Indian territory to suppress the trouble with the Cheyennes. Army officials are reticent as to the contents of the message. Persons in authority, however, assert that the order contained instructions to the commanding officer [illegible] to disarm the Indians. It was sent by Lieutenant General Sheridan. The Cheyenne Indians are armed with the best make of rifles and have considerable quantities of ammunition. For some time they have anticipated an attempt by the army to take their arms from them. If the troops undertake to disarm them it is thought by officials here who have dealt with the Cheyennes that they will resist until overpowered. There are between 1,200 and 1,500 fighting Indians among them.

It was said here to-day that General Augur favored disarming these Indians, but considered the present force [illegible] for the purpose.

DEMOCRATIC STATESMEN DISAPPOINTED.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—There are a score or more democratic statesmen here who have been disappointed in regard to obtaining political positions for their constituents and who express intense dissatisfaction at their treatment by President Cleveland. A prominent democrat said a short time ago: "Things are nearing a crisis. Either Cleveland or the democratic party must give way. This will mean that the administration will hereafter be run on the line of the old fashioned democracy or that it will be run on sentiment, with mugwumps for [illegible] leaders. One means a chance for life, the other certain death." This got to Cleveland's ears lately and he forthwith braced himself. No one thinks he is going to give away or yield a hair. [illegible] he can break with the party and still pull through. In reality he is a mugwump in his politics. He is not a democrat as Randall, Barnum, Gorman, Carlisle and others like them are. He is settled in the belief that the country is ready to crown him leader in the new order of things. He was never elected to office on a straight party pull. [illegible] according to record that his strongest supporters for one office have always opposed him when he ran for the next. He has never been faithful to those who did the most for him.

THE DOLPHIN AFFAIR.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Secretary Whitney seems to have abandoned, or at least suspended, the Dolphin trial trips. It is the general impression here that he will, after all, get worsted in his contest with Roach. To any unprejudiced mind the whole action of Whitney will appear to be a crusade against Roach, and considering all circumstances few will be found so credulous as to believe that had Roach been a democrat the ship would not have been accepted after the report of the advisory board.

AN INSANE DEED.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—To-day Charles Knott, a shoemaker, entered the house of George Morris and asked Mrs. Morris to return a photograph he had given the family. Mrs. Morris turned to get the picture, and as she did so Knott drew a revolver and shot her twice, the first ball taking effect in her head and the second passing through her [illegible]. Knott then blew out his brains, dying instantly. Mrs. Morris is not expected to live through the night. Knott is believed to have been insane.

THE ARIZONA APPOINTMENT.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Wm. Kidder Meade, who was to-day appointed United States marshal for Arizona, has been a resident of Arizona eleven years. He has served in both branches of the Arizona legislature, where he made a good record. At the last national democratic convention he did excellent work in bringing the territories to the support of Cleveland. His appointment, says an old Arizonian, will give entire satisfaction to the democracy of Arizona.

PRESIDENTIAL APPOINTMENTS.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The president to-day made the following appointments: Wm. K. Meade of Arizona to be United States marshal for the territory of Arizona; Joseph I. Morgan, of South Carolina, to be secretary of the legation to Mexico. Mr. Morgan has been a resident of Mexico for some time and speaks the language of the country.

NEW APPOINTMENT.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The president has selected William B. Meade for appointment as United States marshal for the territory of Arizona, vice [illegible].

DEATH OF MRS. MERRICK.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Mrs. Merrick, wife of the late [illegible] Merrick, died this afternoon.

THE CHOLERA EPIDEMIC.

Consul Mason at Versailles Contributes a Valuable Review of the Disease.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—United States Consul Frank H. Mason at Marseilles has sent to the department of state a review of practical conclusions concerning native and Asiatic cholera and the best methods of prevention and treatment derived from studies of the epidemics of '84 and preceding years at Marseilles. After sketching briefly the experiences there during nine cholera epidemics since 1834 and describing the varying phases of the disease manifested in different cases, such as diarrhea for two or three days, followed by the disease proper; again, a sudden attack, sometimes while sleeping. In one case vomiting and [illegible] another neither of these. Consul Mason goes on to state that these variations were never so great or so perplexing to physicians as last year.

He adds: In its choice of victims cholera is most precise and definite. With rare exceptions they belong to one of the four following classes of persons: Those who live under bad hygienic conditions in respect to food and lodgings; those who are imprudent in respect to eating, drinking and exposure; those weakened and debilitated by alcoholic excess, and those who suffer from chronic digestive weakness or derangement.

THINGS THAT ARE DANGEROUS.

Among the imprudences which become dangerous in the presence of cholera are over-eating to the extent of producing lethargy or indigestion, drinking any liquid so cold as to check the process of digestion, eating raw vegetables in the form of salads and in the general use of raw fruits unless perfectly fresh and ripe, and drinking cold water or beer after having eaten raw fruit. [illegible] a direct challenge to cholera which no person, however strong and healthy, can afford to risk.

The susceptibility of drunkards to cholera [illegible] the digestive organs exposes the system thus weakened to cholera attack.

In relation to the transmission of cholera Mason says: The contagion is transmitted by inhalation of air infected by clothing, rugs, [illegible] which have been tainted by contact with the disease, and by water. He cites the case of a man who fled from Marseilles and was not taken ill until he had unfastened a trunk and taken the contagion from clothing therein. A servant girl went from Marseilles to the village of Omergues, and after arriving there washed some of her infected clothing in a creek which supplies the village with water. Not only was the village decimated by cholera as a result, but also the territory below through which the stream runs, while that above escaped.

OTHER OBSERVATIONS.

Mason says the authorities of Marseilles agree that the disease does not transmit itself directly from a cholera patient to a person in good health, neither by contact or inhalation. The vomit of a cholera patient usually contains the germ of contagion which, although not immediately transmissible, often when placed under favorable conditions, quickly develops contagion. Clothing and textile merchandise are far more dangerous as vehicles of the contagion [illegible] in an individual. Cholera attacks persons in a greater or less degree as they are prepared for it.

Five of the most effective destroyers of cholera germs [illegible] are a solution of sulphate of copper [illegible] of not less than five ounces to a quart of water; [illegible] chloride of zinc, one ounce to a quart of water; bichloride of mercury, one sixth of an ounce to a quart of water; bichloride of copper, two ounces to a quart of water; sulphuric acid, four ounces to a quart of water. The same chemicals are used for disinfection of water-closets.

SOME VALUABLE ADVICE.

The report then touches upon the problems of caring for cholera on shipboard, in barracks, asylums, prisons, etc., as exemplified at Marseilles. At [illegible] there was a practical exemption from the disease attributed to the required army regimen, including the wearing of a broad belt or girdle of flannel, to protect the stomach and bowels from sudden chill; the absolute interdiction of green fruits, and the use of rich, hot soups, a quart of wine daily to each man, variation of food as often as practicable, suspension of military exercises and a walk for exercise from 6 to [illegible]:30 A. M. of each alternate day, music morning and evening in the barracks yard, frequent washing of rooms and hall with a solution of phenic acid, stewards required to have constantly ready tea, sugar and rum to be administered immediately in all cases of colic; also, "liquor of Batavia," to be given twenty drops in a quart of water, upon appearance of cholera symptoms.

AS REGARDS DIET.

Mason then proceeds to give an outline of what to eat and what to avoid. Marseilles prohibited the entry into the city of melons, cucumbers and unripe fruits. Instructions issued to the public were to avoid all excess, to drink as little as possible between meals, eat beef and mutton and protect the body from sudden chills and see that the food taken was not stale. Daily tepid baths followed by vigorous rubbing was recommended.

Mason says there is nothing more perilous than for persons who once left an infected atmosphere to return to it before the pestilence is completely suppressed. He continues: No person should return to an infected city unless in a condition of good health, particularly in respect to all functions of nutrition. Whenever possible persons returning should stop for at least forty-eight hours in the suburbs or other locality as near as possible to the infected city.

He says in the case of cholera epidemic diarrhea is a serious illness and should be treated accordingly. He also says: As a popular remedy for immediate use nothing has been found superior to chlorodyne, sold by most druggists.

THE AGRICULTURAL CONVENTION.

Proceedings of the Second Day's Session—Some of the Resolutions.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The second day's session of the agricultural convention began this morning. The committee on order of business reported resolutions declaring: That the relations of agriculture to meteorology are so intimate that the operations of the United States signal service should be duly demonstrated at every agricultural college. To this end the convention heartily endorses the suggestion of the commissioner in his address, and requests him to endeavor to secure the establishment of signal stations in every agricultural college now or hereafter established under the national endowment, and if it be possible to accomplish this important matter through the war department and the chief signal officer. The commissioner is requested to refer the subject with his recommendation to the committee on legislation of this convention and that they cooperate in securing necessary legislation.

After an hour's discussion the resolution was unanimously adopted.

The same committee then offered the following resolutions:

Whereas, One of the principal objects of this convention is the establishment of closer relations between the department of agriculture and all institutions systematically engaged in active labors for agricultural progress; therefore,

Resolved, That in the opinion of this convention the first practical measure to secure cooperation in the fulfillment of the admirable suggestions of the commissioner is the creation of [illegible] office in the department of agriculture, supplied with the necessary clerical force, which office shall be the special medium of inter-communication and exchange between institutions intended to be represented by this convention and the center of a general plan of cooperation.

Resolved, That this convention respectfully recommends to the commissioner as one of the most important functions of the proposed bureau the compilation and publication of periodical bulletins of agricultural progress not less than quarterly and an annual report based thereon. The bulletins should contain, in popular form, ready for the people and the press, the local experience and results in the progress of agricultural education, investigation and experiment, in this and all other countries.

Resolved, That as a necessary part of the instanced cooperation, the colleges and experiment stations here represented regard themselves as bound to make definite plans for supplying said office with such regular reports of their operations as may be called for by the commissioner.

The remainder of the morning session and the entire afternoon session was devoted to the discussion and reading of papers upon general subjects relating to agriculture and mechanical arts in colleges. During the noon intermission the delegates called in a body at the White house by appointment and were received by the president.

AN APPEAL FROM DODGE CITY.

Cattle Men Ask that their Herds be Allowed to Pass over the Trail.

WASHINGTON, July [illegible].—The following telegram was received this morning by the commissioner of agriculture:

DODGE CITY, Kansas, July 8, 1885.

To Hon. Norman J. Colman, Commissioner: Nearly 50,000 cattle on the drive from Texas to the panhandle of Texas and Colorado have been forcibly stopped and prevented from passing over the common trail for such cattle through the Indian country—the Cherokee strip and No Man's Land—and are now stopped there by an armed band of men in the pay of rival cattle interest.

These cattle comprise the herds of J. R. Blocker of 6,000 head, Pugsley Brothers and Dowling of 9000, J. W. Driskoll of 12,000, H. S. Hally of [illegible]000 and John T. Lytle of 6000, all citizens of Colorado, Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

These cattle were purchased for speedy delivery in Colorado and the panhandle, contracts for which are now expiring or have expired. All these cattle are sound and healthy, and from a district clean of disease.

To further aid in stopping these cattle three criminal proceedings have been instituted by complaint sworn to by an irresponsible party at the suggestion of this rival interest, and we have demanded [illegible] a trial and have the same docketed. We are law abiding citizens, and started our cattle with full knowledge of all requirements and quarantine regulations of the several states, and with no public purpose to serve. We think this may receive your immediate attention, and that under the large power given you may direct the marshal or attorney general of the district of Kansas to see that these herds are not detained, but have the right not only to complete their journey but safe conduct from hostile parties.

This was signed by J. R. Blocker, of Texas; W. S. Pugsley, of Colorado; J. W. Driskoll, of Texas; John T. Lytle, of Texas; George West, of Texas; C. A. Pugsley, of Missouri; N. Dowling, of Colorado; H. S. Halys, of Colorado; N. C. Campbell, of Texas, and Dennis Sullivan, of Colorado.

SPORTING NOTES.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS.

LONDON, July 9.—Earthquake shocks continue to be felt in the vale of Cashmere at intervals of three days. On the 5th inst. a severe shock was felt at [illegible].

LONDON'S SENSATION.

Interest in the Revelations Apparently Increasing.

A MAD RUSH FOR THE 'GAZETTE.'

What the Paper Says of its Opposition—Proceedings in the House of Commons—The Government Presents its Budget.

LONDON, July [illegible].—The Pall Mall Gazette's sensation continues and the third installment of its exposures was put forth to-day. This, in some respects, is more repulsive than any that has preceded it. Five pages are devoted to details. Every case is so clearly described that the guilty parties could be located within twenty-four hours by a detective of the most ordinary intelligence. Every possible clue is given except the names of principals. The accompanying editorial article to-day is short but more aggressive than any that has been printed since the exposures were begun. The editor not only defies, but invites prosecution, but he warns the intending prosecutors that many names will necessarily be revealed during the trial of any case brought against him. Some men, he says, will be spared until the last on account of their honest wives and worthy sons and daughters, of whom they were unworthy fathers. If such men choose to lead the attack they will, he says, be sheltered behind women whom they know they are unworthy to touch.

Prisoners arrested for selling copies of the Gazette were taken before Lord Mayor Fowler and promptly released or remanded under nominal bail. The lord mayor expressed the opinion that the editor of the Gazette was actuated by the highest motives. He said that if a crime had been committed in pointing out a nest of crimes the publishers should first be dealt with, after which there would be time enough to prosecute men and boys who bought and sold the paper in ordinary course of trade.

A MAD RUSH FOR PAPERS.

The office of the Gazette is in a state of siege. A shrieking mob has possession of the sidewalks. News vendors, regular and irregular, are pressing forward to buy copies of the paper at a shilling apiece. Eight policemen are on duty, forming purchasers into line, who sell papers at almost any price they choose to ask. The sale of papers at the office is not only tolerated but regulated and facilitated by the police, but as soon as a vendor begins to cry his wares on the street he is liable to arrest.

Letters have been received from hundreds of clergymen, statesmen and merchants thanking the editor for exposures already made, exhorting him to keep on with the good work and promising their support in any way it can be made effective.

At the clubs the principal occupation is fitting the names of the accused persons to descriptions in the Gazette. The names of members of the royal family and of the highest nobility are freely bandied about. Many aristocrats are howling with rage, and their anger is intensified by its impotence. If they deny the truth of any individual case they are met with the awkward answer, "How do you know?" In the Reform club it has been proposed to expel Mr. Thompson, owner of the Gazette, for allowing exposures to be made in his paper.

THE PAPER'S REMARKS.

The Gazette reproduces articles favorable to its course from Christian religious newspapers—the Western Mercury and the Belfast News—together with letters of protest from Mr. John Brinton, liberal member of parliament of Kidderminster, and other persons of prominence. The Pall Mall Gazette this evening published an editorial thanking the city authorities for the attempt to suppress the sale of the paper, thereby breaking the conspiracy of silence maintained by the press concerning the revelations. "Police seizures of newspapers are common in Vienna," continues the Gazette, "but such high handed outrages on the freedom of the press would have been considered impossible in London. Instead of waging war against street boys, let the authorities take action against the responsible parties in this business. If we have published anything obscene let them prosecute us. We deny that anything has been published by us deserving that censure, and we declare the authorities [illegible] or worse if they fail to proceed against us after having charged in open court that the Pall Mall Gazette was an obscene publication. We have deliberately adopted this mode of publicity in order to arouse [illegible] to a just sense of the horrors existing all around them. The more publicity the better. We are prepared to prove our statements. We can summon witnesses from the dean of Canterbury and the prince of Wales down to Mr. Jeffries. We will put our chief informant and his assistants in the witness box."

NEWSPAPER VENDERS ARRAIGNED.

Thirteen newspaper venders who had been arrested for selling copies of the Pall Mall Gazette, were arraigned before the lord mayor to-day. The city solicitor, in presenting the cases against the prisoners, charged them with publicly selling obscene literature, and said he had marked for the court's perusal passages in the Gazette's articles upon which the charge was based. He must, he said, decline reading the passages in open court, and said he thought that a repetition of these objectionable statements with little alteration easily indicated no good object. The solicitor then stated that it would require further time to consider what charge to formulate against the prisoners. The lord mayor said he thought it would be best to await the decision of the government, which had before it for consideration the same case.

The proprietors of the Pall Mall Gazette to-day asked Sir Richard Cross, home secretary, for protection against the crowds surrounding the publication office.

A STATEMENT.

LONDON, July 10.—The chief director of the Pall Mall Gazette secret inquiry commission, through which the revelations were obtained, writes concerning the whole matter as follows: The investigation began on May 24, and the work was unremitting to date. The commission had valuable assistance from the Salvation Army, from the London committee for suppression of traffic in English girls, and from the vast experience of Mrs. Joseph Butler. The commission was composed of members of the Gazette's staff, and acted independently of the police. The commission applied to the archbishop of Canterbury, the bishop of London and Cardinal Manning for advice, and these great authorities on morals, while deprecating the risk involved in the commission's task, all warmly supported its object. Ready help was accorded to the commission from Catholic and Congregational clergymen, also from the miners' joint protection committee, the white ribbon army, the society for prevention of cruelty to children, the London city mission and the moral reform union. The commission visited all the hospitals, homes and refuges where harbor is given, and the unfortunate inmates readily gave all the information in their possession. Most of the revelations, however, were obtained through interviews. Everybody, high and low, likely to have information desired by the commission, from Lord [illegible] to Mrs. Jeffries, was subjected to an interview by some member of the commission. Mrs. Jeffries shed a flood of light upon the whole [illegible] investigation. The entire cost of the [illegible] amounted to $[illegible],000.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach Introduces the Budget of the New Government.

LONDON, July 9.—Lord Mayor Fowler gave notice in the House of Commons this afternoon of his intention to ask the government if they intended to erect a monument to General Gordon in Trafalgar square.

Mr. Albert H. Grey, liberal member from South Northumberland, complained that public access to the office of the Pall Mall Gazette was obstructed.

Sir Richard Cross, home secretary, said that it was the duty of the police to keep the streets clear, and to preserve order.

Mr. Charles Edward Lewis, moderate conservative member for the city of Londonderry, Ireland, gave notice of a motion approving Earl Spencer's energetic execution of the Irish crimes act while lord lieutenant of Ireland and rejecting Mr. Parnell's motion for an inquiry into Earl Spencer's execution of the same law.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, introduced in behalf of the new government the budget. It retains all of Childers' proposals which are not affected by the recent vote. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, in presenting the budget, said the government expected that the expenditure on account of the [illegible] credit exceeded $45,000,000, to which Mr. Childers' estimate was limited. The government proposed to issue $20,000,000 in treasury bills to cover the deficit of the past and present.

Mr. W. H. Smith, secretary for war, in replying to Mr. McCarthy, said the government was unaware of any reward having been offered by the British government for [illegible].

The Right Hon. Mr. Shaw Lefevre, late postmaster general, announces that the committee of the Anglo-American postal service had suspended its meetings until the [illegible] of parliament.

Mr. Albert H. Grey, liberal member for South Northumberland, gave notice of his intention to ask Sir Richard Cross, home secretary, to-morrow, whether [illegible] by the home department in order to the police to make every effort possible to [illegible] under the law to suppress the abominations revealed in the Pall Mall Gazette, and whether the government will introduce into parliament bills for such amendment of the existing criminal law as will [illegible] the punishment of perpetrators of the crimes referred to.

The house agreed to the government's proposition to issue $20,000,000 treasury bills to meet the deficits of the past and the present year. The [illegible] criminal law amendment bill was then resumed.

PORTLAND FRIDAY JULY 10, 1885

THE COURSE OF PARTIES

It cannot be told till congress meets in the winter and gets its work well under way how far the old political situation which has been maintained during so many years is to be modified by the change of parties at the head of the government. The president is balancing very cautiously. He is professing devotion to civil service reform to please the mugwumps, and at the same time is distributing the spoils as rapidly as he thinks it prudent, to satisfy the democrats. When the senate meets there will be a lively discussion over many of his nominations, and it is almost certain that some will be rejected. For example Mr Keiley of Virginia, who has said since his appointment to a foreign mission that enforcement of the authority of the government over his state (meaning the suppression of the rebellion) was "a gross and bloody violation of public rights," will be likely to have a hard road to travel to secure his confirmation and sundry "offensive partisans" who have done unscrupulous work for the democratic party will probably find themselves obliged to toil and trudge along the same difficult highway. But in general the nominations will be confirmed. In most cases the persons appointed to succeed officials whose terms had expired will be confirmed without question. It is right and necessary to do this. The senate will take no factious or untenable position. It may, however, and probably will in not a few cases inquire why the president has put out of office certain persons accused of "offensive partisanship," and put in others solely because they have been equally "offensive partisans" on the other side. Such inquiry will tend to strip the continued practice of the spoils system of its new and favorite disguise. The republicans of the senate cannot object to the taking of the offices by the democrats, but they may properly object to the manner of taking them, under the mask of "reform."

But there can be no general contention over the offices. The subject is not important enough. The great body of the people will take little interest in it. Among republicans generally there is no objection to the claim of the democrats to the offices. The only point of objection or criticism is that the offices shall not be taken on false pretenses. The democrats are taking them because they regard them, under present circumstances, as the rightful property of democrats. It would be honest to say so, and not attempt to cover the purpose to get them under the pretense of "reforming the public service."

Beyond doubt when congress meets the tariff question will be up again, but this question can now, no more than heretofore, be made a line of division between the parties. In the republican party there are some who would have a low tariff; in the democratic party there are more who would have nothing but a high tariff. Democratic protectionists will be more numerous in the next congress than in the last. They know that any unfriendliness to protection would cause the overthrow of their party in New York and in the two states, New Jersey and Connecticut, which are carried by New York's influence. Nevertheless the low tariff element is strong and aggressive, and it may push the question to a point where it would seriously embarrass the party. The silver question, too, will come up, with little possibility of agreement among democrats upon it. Since the real responsibility of shaping the policy of the country is now to rest upon the democratic party, the development of that policy through the action of the house and of the president will be looked for with much interest by the people of all parties.

AN INVITATION

Mr George H Ellers of Polk county contributed to THE OREGONIAN of yesterday a letter on the remarks of Hon L. S. Coffin of the Iowa party, pointing out certain differences between the Willamette valley and Iowa, and taking ground that Mr Coffin's suggestions are impracticable. When a farmer so well informed and successful as Mr Ellers speaks of farming matters it is worth while to give him attention. His experiences, unquestionably are honestly stated, but we believe that they are not common throughout the Willamette valley. THE OREGONIAN has in this connection no "cause" to maintain. It has urged our farmers to vary their labor and products because it believes that there would be more profit to them and to the country from a diversified production than from the present almost exclusive business of wheat raising; but if we are wrong we want to know it. A general comparison of ideas and results ought to be a benefit and it certainly would be a matter of interest to farmers and others. THE OREGONIAN invites correspondence on this general subject from practical farmers everywhere, and it is desired we propose a further discussion of it by Mr Coffin and others, from the Iowa standpoint. Will the farmers of the country come to the front with their experiences and suggestions.

The twelfth national conference of charities and correction was in session in Washington a whole week, in June. It is not an association of cranks, or impracticable theorists, as some people imagine. The papers and debates frequently exhibited [illegible] connection between conservatism and progress. The most radical views that [illegible] suggested rather [illegible] the views which were put forth [illegible] years ago when these conferences [illegible] accepted and being [illegible]. Believing that the people of the Pacific coast [illegible] in the topics which [illegible] the other co, we shall lay before our readers some extracts from the notes and reports of our commissioner to the conference who was the only one that appeared from the Pacific coast. We are impelled to this after having seen the exceedingly brief and detached notices which were conveyed to us by telegraph. And here we call attention to the speech of Dr Lindsley which will be found in another column, which gives an intelligent resume of the aims of the conference and the subjects introduced.

It is stated [illegible] the Wabash [illegible] railway of [illegible] ago whose operations were recently stopped by the strikers, are $7000 a day, and that the whole expenses including men, horses, cars, feed, taxes, repairs and betterments are but $4700, leaving a net profit of $2300 a day. A company having such a business ought to be just at least, toward its employes. It makes $840,000 a year net on property that could be fully duplicated for $2,000,000.

The New York Post says that the president's selection for collector to succeed Mr [illegible]son is not the best possible, but we are confident that he has had good reasons for making it. The president's good reasons consist of the practical political necessity of corralling all the democratic forces of New York for the coming state election. New York is the first great battlefield of the administration, and it is to be in that Mr. Cleveland is preparing for.

Portland's bogus journal does not try to vindicate the integrity of its so-called dispatches, but tries to content itself with expressions of dissatisfaction at the manner in which THE OREGONIAN is conducted. Now THE OREGONIAN is not conducted with the expectation of pleasing bogus journalism. If it were, it would soon be of no more account and have no more readers than the bogus journal itself.

A St. Paul dispatch says that the [illegible] the [illegible] has been disastrous to the other hotels of the city. The Metropolitan, hitherto the leading hotel, has closed its doors, [illegible] claiming that it will not pay expenses. The Astoria has also given up the struggle [illegible] Ryan is cutting rates so that it is impossible to compete with it.

IMPROVEMENTS SUGGESTED.

Candor and kindness require us to inform the bogus journal that in the publication of news it is lagging unnecessarily far behind. The following illustrates one of its performances of yesterday:

Portland News July 9	Oregonian July [illegible]
WASHINGTON July [illegible]—Our commerce with this country has dwindled down to most nothing in comparison with its former magnitude. [illegible]	WASHINGTON July [illegible]—Our commerce with this country has dwindled down to almost nothing in comparison with its former magnitude. [illegible]

The bogus journal might have had this a week earlier. And if it had judiciously handled the report, of which the above is only a short extract, it would not have started the paragraph so abruptly. Look at it: "Washington, July —Our commerce with this country has dwindled down almost to nothing in comparison with its former magnitude." Commerce with what country? Really this is quite too clumsy and slovenly a job. The following, however, is more artistic:

Portland News July 8	Chicago Herald July [illegible]
NEW HAVEN July [illegible]—A parasite which threatens to be very disastrous to the young oysters in this vicinity has been discovered. It is a small insect which builds on top of the seed oysters a growth of brownish coral like cells which as they accumulate entirely destroys the young oysters. Out of 98,000 bushels of seed oysters planted in this harbor by one grower, nine tenths will be a total loss owing to this recently discovered pest. Professor Verrill of the shellfish commission will investigate the matter. It is a small insect which builds on top of the seed oysters a growth of brownish coral like cells which, as it accumulates, entirely destroys the young oysters. Out of 98,000 bushels of seed oysters planted in this harbor by one grower nine tenths will be a total loss owing to this recently discovered pest. Professor Verrill of the shellfish commission will investigate the matter.

In this performance the bogus journal has unnecessarily lost a day. Its special telegraphic service ought to bring matter from Chicago so that it could be reprinted here five days after it has been originally published there. Indeed, the fast mail now brings Chicago papers only four days old. Can't our esteemed contemporary be a little more lively? We merely want to nudge it a little. But here we are again:

Portland News July 9	All Eastern Papers July [illegible]
WASHINGTON July [illegible]—The South American Commission say Chili [illegible] United States [illegible] President Santa Maria [illegible] England [illegible]	WASHINGTON July [illegible]—The South American commission [illegible] of Santiago May [illegible] made their report to the [illegible] result of their visit to Chili. President Santa Maria was not disposed to make any reciprocity treaty with the United States [illegible]

The above also which is one of the performances of the bogus journal of yesterday (July [illegible]) is unnecessarily and reprehensibly late. The eastern papers that brought it were here on the 7th. Wake up, brethren! You are not doing yourselves justice.

Other "dispatches" in the bogus journal are still further behind the times. For instance, the following:

WASHINGTON July [illegible]—Fifteen colored men employed as messengers in the treasury department were dismissed a while ago. Their places were immediately given to [illegible] white men [illegible] from the south who had [illegible] the government, and who [illegible] had to be taken care of. Not being qualified to pass the civil service examination they were [illegible] put in these jobs when the doors were opened. They learned by daily experience that a messenger's duty consists in cleaning spittoons, carrying [illegible] and performing such tasks [illegible] their proud spirits revolted. One after another [illegible] and resigned. Now [illegible] vacant again.

This, from a Washington letter to an Ohio paper, might have been reprinted here five or six days ago. We had it clipped out and passed on a string with a lot of other items, but as it did not occur to us that our esteemed contemporary was going to receive it as a "special telegraphic dispatch," we were slow about printing it, and now our [illegible] has scored a "beat" on us. We acknowledge the corn, but hope to do better in the future.

Of the matter which the News has published as editorial during the past year we might reproduce from its files many columns collated with the originals as the matter appeared in the papers from which it was clipped, but that is unnecessary. These articles misled or deceived nobody. They showed for just what they were worth, whoever their authors. The paper was not offered to the public on the credit of those articles, but on its pretense as a newspaper. Its offense therefore was and is that of printing false news, of pretending to [illegible] telegraph what it does not receive by telegraph, and thereby misleading those who [illegible] and read it [illegible] of the day. It knows that [illegible] paper it must profess [illegible] and it cannot sustain this assumption. It presents bogus stuff and thereby solicits money on false pretenses. It is [illegible] less of it now than formerly through fear of future exposures, and its columns consequently begin to look lean and thin. In seriousness and candor will it not allow us to say to it in the language of Hamlet, "Oh, reform it altogether."

A PROFESSIONAL FOREIGNER

[illegible] Hesing, of Chicago [illegible] represented to the president [illegible] the naturalized [illegible] holds the balance of power between the democrats and republicans in many of the larger states that a greater proportion of them had, in consequence of the slavery issue, allied themselves to the republican party, but that they had become much dissatisfied with that party on account of its intolerance, and at the last election three-fourths voted the democratic ticket." The lesson of this insidious information which Mr Hesing failed not to impress upon the administration was the importance of retaining this vote by the "liberal and enlightened principle" of giving important appointments to "German-Americans" of high standing with their countrymen. The man who makes this remarkable threat is a German by birth who for many years was connected with the republican party. A few years ago he was in the service of the government under a republican administration, but being detected in an official fraud in connection with the whisky business he was dismissed, whereupon he turned democrat, posing as a leader of the German element. His present effort evidently is to secure an appointment through the pretense that he has great influence with German voters.

Hesing is one of many politicians of some [illegible] who may be called professional foreigners. They belong to one or another of the foreign nationalities represented in our voting population and use that fact as political [illegible]. In truth without exception they are braggarts and pretenders despised by those whom they claim to represent. For all the blatant talk to the contrary, here is no such thing as the "German vote." Many thousands of American citizens there are who were originally Germans, but there is no political organization of them, no united action one way or the other. On election day they are as independent of each other and differ as widely in their opinions and in their ballots as do native Americans. They are not a class to be "voted" this way or that by boasting leaders, and such discredited cattawags as Hesing, particularly, have no influence whatever with them. They are Americans in the honorable respect of being their own political masters. It is no reason to appoint a man to office because he is or is not German born, and an administration which tries to capture German votes by distributing offices among self-designated political leaders will fail in its efforts. German voters are not to be caught by this sort of pretenses.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC TERMINUS

PORT MOODY, July [illegible]—Saturday, the Fourth, Mr J W Trutch, the Dominion government agent for British Columbia, with one or two others, went up over the line from here to Savona's Ferry, [illegible] miles, which forms the Pacific division, on a tour of inspection. If everything is found satisfactory they will accept the road on behalf of the government, from Contractor Onderdonk. They expected to make the run from here to Yale in an hour and forty-five minutes, at [illegible] one of the requirements [illegible] presumably was that they should not have their necks broken in so doing. However this division is in good condition and is completed. If accepted as such by the government agent, as it undoubtedly will be, the people hope after the road is accepted by the government to be relieved from the exorbitant rates charged by the contractor. At the present rate of progress trains will surely be running from Halifax to Port Moody by October. It is said that the line of steamers from Port Moody to China and Japan will be put on immediately upon the completion of the road. Contractor Baker has arrived to build the terminal round house and other works, and have them done by the time of the completion of the road.

Dominion day was celebrated in big shape at New Westminster, and it is said the crowd there on that occasion was the largest ever in the city. On the Fourth an excursion ran to Semiahmoo on the American side, where there was a celebration, and another to Victoria. Both were liberally patronized by Uncle Sam's loyal subjects here.

The lumber business is quite brisk now, and it is believed the depression in that line is at an end.

Southern Pensions for Ex-Confederates

Charleston News and Courier

Very many ex-confederates in every part of the south can expect relief from no other source than from the state governments. The duty of the states is plain and pressing and will be recognized by right thinking persons in the north as well as in the south. It would be cowardly in the extreme for the southern people on account of the protests of a few malignant newspapers and their [illegible] to refuse to pay the debt of gratitude they owe to the maimed ex-confederates.

PERSONAL.

Mr [illegible] Chase of Walla Walla is at the Charles.

[illegible] L. [illegible], Sam Lowenstein, [illegible] and W. H. Williams leave Monday [illegible] Foley springs. They take with them a [illegible] artist and waiter and will travel in a [illegible]

Mr S. G. Fulton, the newly appointed assistant general freight agent of the Northern P[illegible] was in the city yesterday. He returns [illegible] to-day, and will be back here in a [illegible]

J Frank Watson, who is already extensively interested in mines in eastern Oregon, left [illegible] for Baker City accompanied by [illegible] a California mining expert, on some [illegible] mission. We may have some [illegible] some day.

Bock [illegible] was placed under $500 bonds by Justice Greene to answer to the grand jury for threatening to kill Bock Fook.

If Lent. E. M. Hathway will send his address to the secretary of the Multnomah Typographical Union he will receive important letters.

Marriage licenses have been issued to S. W. Barns and Annie Foster, W. J. Miller and Mamie C. Batley, and [illegible] Whitlock and Mary [illegible]

The [illegible] Reporter says: The new reduction works in Port[illegible] and have commenced operations by a proposed reduction of the police force."

[illegible] Williams alias Carey, who tried to break into a merchandise car, was held to answer by Judge McFarland in the police court yesterday on a charge of burglary. Carey's pal, who was arrested at the same time, was one of the party that sawed their way to escape from the jail several days since, and sawed.

Buel Carey, of Summit station, died at that place Wednesday evening. He was formerly a resident of California, but has been in this state for about ten years. He was road supervisor of his district for several years. He was 57 years of age and leaves a wife. His funeral takes place at 10 A. M. to-day.

A runaway accident near Hillsboro in Washington county last Tuesday resulted in the death of Harry Segar and the serious injury of [illegible] Ford. When Segar was thrown out he was dragged some distance and horribly mangled. He died in a few moments. Ford had his shoulder blade and several ribs broken. Segar was aged 35 and unmarried.

Some people have wondered why the entrances to the elevator shaft in Kamm's [illegible] block were lathed and plastered over. It is because the Otis elevator, which it is Mr Kamm's intention to place in his building, will not arrive here for three or four months, and as the doors will come with the best and safest thing to do was to close the shaft till the elevator is ready to be put in.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

DIVORCE MATTERS.—Ellen J. Green has been granted a divorce from her husband, O. Green, on the ground of cruelty. Their two minor children were awarded to the mother. In the matter of the suit for a divorce recently instituted by Jennie C. Jones against Charles F. Jones, the latter is allowed until Monday next to file an answer to his wife's complaint. Jeannette Drucks also began suit yesterday to get a divorce from her husband, Frank Drucks. They were married in this city in July [illegible] year. Mrs. Drucks now alleges in her complaint that her husband gets drunk and has choked her many times and called her a thief and several other names more vile. Upon her application, Judge Stearns yesterday issued a restraining order to the husband commanding him to keep away from her person and her property pending the continuance of this suit. Mrs. Drucks had considerable property before her marriage, and claims that her husband has borrowed from her and spent during the last year $600, which she asks the court to order refunded. A hearing in the suit of [illegible] W. Garrigan vs. Margaret Garrigan, to dissolve the marriage, and appoint a trustee for certain property, was also had before Judge Stearns in chambers, but no decision was reached in the matter. The case of Susan Durkee vs. John F. Durkee has been referred to N. D. Simon.

CHALLENGES FOR A BADGE.—Will Curry, who won the diamond badge at clay pigeon shooting in February last has now an opportunity to lose it. The badge was furnished by a subscription from sporting men, to be shot for on the terms that the winner was to accept any challenge to shoot for it within six months from the time he won it, the challenger to put up $100 against the badge, the winner to take both. J. F. McNaught of Seattle has challenged Mr. Curry and the latter has accepted it. The shoot will take place Saturday, the 18th instant, at City View Park. Mr. McNaught was one of the Seattle team who took part in the shooting tournament here some weeks since and carried away one of the principal prizes. If Curry lets him get away with the diamond badge there will be rejoicing in Seattle, and then some of our other crack shots will have to try to win it back. Mr. Curry did not do himself justice at the pigeon shooting tournament, but he is a handy man with a gun, and Mr. McNaught will have to shatter clay pigeons very lively to get away with him.

TO WRITE ABOUT CATTLE.—Mr. Joseph Nimmo, Jr., for many years chief of the bureau of statistics at Washington, D. C., writes to a gentleman of this city that he will start for the Pacific coast about the 15th inst. He has just completed his report on the range and ranch cattle business. He is deeply interested in the vast area west of the Missouri river, reaching from the gulf of Mexico to British Columbia, whose climate, topographical and meteorological conditions are specially adapted to cattle raising. He proposes now to write a popular book upon this subject, with maps and other illustrations, a project which he is at entire liberty to pursue, having been relieved of official duties as an incident of a somewhat active participation in the political struggle last fall. He proposes spending this month, August and September in the area west of the one hundredth meridian, collecting such information and receiving such information as he may from travel and personal observation. He will treat especially of eastern Washington and Oregon.

RICE CROP DAMAGED.—Chinese merchants here are somewhat excited over a dispatch from Canton published in the Wah Gee, a paper printed in the Chinese language in San Francisco, to the effect that the rice crop in China has been seriously damaged. It appears that just as the crop in the extensive rice growing region around Canton was ready to harvest there came a flood and the rivers overflowing their banks broke down the dykes surrounding the rice fields, completely destroying the crop and drowning many people. Appeals for aid have been made to the Chinese in this country, and the price of rice here has already advanced fifty cents a bundle or twenty-five cents a sack. There is a prospect of a still further rise, and merchants here who are short in rice are telegraphing orders for supplies. Should the rice crop be seriously diminished by this disaster it may make a market for some of our wheat and have the effect of teaching the Chinese to use more of our flour.

THE TANNER CREEK SEWER.—The proposed culvert, or main sewer, down Eleventh street, to carry off the waters of Tanner creek and the sewage of that portion of the city west of Eleventh street, meets with the approbation of the residents in that vicinity. A number of them called at the auditor's office yesterday to place their names to the petition. Some who live along the banks of Tanner creek are so disgusted with the stench and filth of that once pretty, clear-running trout stream that they expressed themselves as willing to bear the entire expense of the culvert through their property if necessary. The present is a good time for a work of this kind. Bricks and labor are both plenty and cheap, and any extension or improvement of the sewerage facilities of the city will be commended by all.

EASTERN OREGON MINES.—W. T. Golden, an old "Comstocker," now engaged in copper mining on Clover creek, Powder River valley, Union county, about twenty-five miles east of Baker City, is in town. The late H. D. Green was one of the principal owners in the mine and Mr. Golden's visit is to confer with the administrators of the estate as to future work on the mine. Thus far the output has been very satisfactory, the ore yielding as high as 70 per cent. native copper, thirty ounces silver and about $10 in gold to the ton. Mr. Golden is in receipt of a letter from J. N. Jones, who has located a claim in the Pine Valley district, which is attracting so much attention now. Twenty-five pounds of ore was pounded out in a mortar and yielded $150 in gold. Rich strikes are reported daily.

NEEDS A HALTER.—Some crank on the subject of harness has been indulging his taste for leather in this section. Several days since he stole a set of buggy harness from G. W. [illegible], corner First and Sherman streets, on Tuesday night he captured a set belonging to H. T. Rowe, who is now opposed to any reduction of the police force. Wednesday evening he stole another set of buggy harness at Albina and took the buggy robe and cushion to complete the outfit. It is probable that some one is intending to start a livery stable, and after he gets all the harness he wants he will begin again to steal the halters and the buggies. If he perseveres the county will furnish him with a halter and a beam to hitch himself to some of these fine days.

JOHN ROBINSON'S GREAT SHOW.—Mr. D. S. [illegible], general manager of John Robinson's great world's exposition, menagerie and circus, is in the city. He has been trying to get to his country since 1869 with the show, and has at last succeeded. They have their own train of thirty six cars, each sixty feet long. The show will reach Baker City August 3, play the week between there and The Dalles, the next week on the east side, and in Portland Monday and Tuesday, August 17 and 18. Robinson gave four performances in Denver on the Fourth of July, to 32,516 people. The Denver Times says: "It is certainly the most honestly advertised exhibition ever in the city."

WHY HE JUMPED.—It has leaked out that the cause of Colonel Fleischner's Newfoundland dog jumping from the third story of Union block was that a lot of K. of P.'s were being raised to the fourth degree, and the ceremony struck such terror to the dog's heart that he leaped before he looked. The dog weighs 160 pounds, and it is not to be wondered at that he was somewhat shaken up. So many people have called at Fleischner, Mayer & Co.'s to inquire after Nig that bulletins were posted by the boys at intervals yesterday in regard to his condition, which is constantly improving.

LEFT HOME.—Last night a girl aged 15 years was picked up by the police at the corner of Front and Main, and taken to the city jail. She is the step daughter of a saloon-keeper in East Portland, and says her parents have made her life so unpleasant that she had to leave home. The girl says she is willing to do any sort of house work for a living, but is determined not to return home. Unless she should fall into the hands of some kind family, it will not be hard to predict her future.

ARRESTED FOR PERJURY.—Mr. Charles R. Lloyd, of San Francisco, whose wife secured possession of the Ingram children, was arrested on a charge of perjury shortly before he left. He waived examination and gave bonds to appear before the grand jury. The complaint is made by W. Ingate Ball, who alleges that the defendant committed perjury in charging that he (Ball) misappropriated funds belonging to the estate of Herbert S. Ingram.

CHLORIDES OF SILVER.—George Pfunder, who came down from the Coliville country a few days since, brought some very rich specimens of chloride of silver ore from his Bon Ton [illegible], near the old Dominion claim, which has proved very rich. Mr. Pfunder has located some six or eight claims in that district, and returns tomorrow to attend to his interests there.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' AID SOCIETY.—There will be a meeting of the general committee this evening at 8 o'clock, at Ladd & Tilton's bank, to receive the report of the sub-committee and perfect the organization.

APPEAL FOR THE FOURTH TIME.—The case of W. J. Quinn against the Home Insurance company on trial in the state circuit court yesterday resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff for $215, the amount sued for being $560 30. The history of the case is this: Bickel's building, on the corner of Stark and Second streets, and in which Quinn's tailoring establishment was located, was partially destroyed by fire about February 1. Quinn's stock, already damaged by water and smoke, and removed to the old wooden building on the corner of Second and Washington streets, the present site of the new Portland savings bank building. Fire also broke out in this building on February 20, and Quinn's stock was still further damaged, he claimed, by smoke, to the extent of $560 30. The insurance company, however, was not inclined to allow the second claim for damages, hence the suit.

FLUSHING THE SEWERS.—The much needed work of flushing the sewers of the city recommended by THE OREGONIAN a day or two since, commenced yesterday under the superintendence of Assistant Engineer Dobelbower and Assistant Superintendent of Streets William Braden. The old coffee pot engine was employed and the sewers on D and E streets were flushed. The work will be extended along toward the south end as fast as possible. It is done very efficiently in the following manner: A gate or valve is inserted through a manhole to effectually close the sewer at a point above where the water is standing in it. The engine then pumps in water from a cistern to fill the sewer for two blocks above this gate, which is then withdrawn and the water rushes down thoroughly cleansing the sewer in its passage.

COUNTY ROAD MATTERS.—In the matter of the relocation of the "old river road" the report of the viewers was received and the matter continued till the first day of next term. The matter of the relocation of the Slavin road was laid over. The resurvey and review of a portion of the section line road was approved. A number of bills were read and approved. In the matter of the petition of O. P. Lent et al. for removal of H. B. Oatman, supervisor of road district No. 6, July 18, 1885, at 10 o'clock the matter was set for hearing. Mr. Oatman was notified to appear. The matter of the relocation of the Powell's Valley road was continued to the same day.

DID NOT GET A LICENSE.—The fakir Isaac Vogel applied to the city authorities yesterday for another license to play his swindling game on the streets. He was promptly refused. He may have beaten thirty-one cases in San Francisco, but we do things differently in Oregon. He will not have the chance to make the cases. He says he has tried hard work, but "it don't pay." He rattles off his patter glibly enough, and performs his little presto change trick in a very deft manner, but outside of that has no more moral sense or sense of any kind than a toad, which reptile he closely resembles.

FREIGHT RATES TO THE COAST.—The Oregon Railway and Navigation Company have just issued a special freight rate for the benefit of those who wish to take vehicles and household goods to the seaside. It will be in force all summer. Following are the rates to Astoria when destined for Ilwaco: Two wheeled dog-carts $2; buggies, $2 50; carriages, $3 50; freight, $1 75 per ton. To Fort Clatsop (seaside landing): Dog carts, $2 50, buggies, $3; carriages, $4; freight, 6 cents per hundred, freight from Astoria to Fort Clatsop 5 cents per hundred.

BASEBALL MATCH TO-MORROW.—The Alerts of Dallas have consented to play a return game with the Stars, and the match will take place at City View park to-morrow. Boats will leave Morrison street at 1 and 2 P. M., game being called at 2:30. Ladies are particularly invited, and the Stars having charge of the park for the day promise that no objectionable characters will be admitted. The Polk county boys are giants by the side of the Stars, and visitors may expect a close game.

THE UPPER KOOTENAI MINES.—A letter to THE OREGONIAN from Sand Point, Idaho, says Hon. John T. Galbraith, with his pack-train of ninety animals, is down from upper Kootenai after a cargo of merchandise. He reports the prospect of the mines good for this time of year. There is quite a rush to Fenley creek. About forty Chinamen from the old camp have gone up there and are taking out from $1 50 to $5 per day. After the water goes down they expect [illegible] better.

LIGHT CATCH.—The salmon catch has fallen off again. Last Friday, Saturday and Sunday there was a fine run, and it appeared as if the customary big run of July had set in, but on Monday the catch dropped to almost nothing. As an instance, one cannery which received 1000 salmon on Sunday received only 14 on Monday. The prospect is that the pack will fall considerably below that of last year, but not so far as some imagined early in the season.

ONE YEAR IN THE PENITENTIARY.—Frank Martin, who was convicted last Tuesday of striking Thomas Jennings over the head with a rock, was yesterday sentenced to the penitentiary, by Judge Stearns, for one year. It does not pay for men to fight with rocks. The law making them dangerous weapons and inflicting a heavy penalty for using them is a good one and will render murder less liable to be committed in the heat of passion.

DECISION AFFIRMED.—In the state circuit court yesterday, a mandate was received from the supreme court affirming the decision in the case of Priscilla Parker, respondent, against D. W. Metzger and Emma Metzger, appellants. By this decree the respondent will recover a deed for the property sued for and $114 for costs in the lower court and $142 80 for costs of appeal. The suit was brought to secure a good deed.

CITY VIEW PARK.—On Sunday there will be special races, trotting and running, for horses of good reputation. The purse is $350 and a silver cup, which latter can be seen at Henrichsen & Greenberg's. On the same day a contest at shooting will be an event of interest. The management are doing their utmost to render the City View park a place of recreation and amusement of high order.

VEREIN EINTRACHT.—At the last meeting of the Verein Eintracht the following officers were elected: President, [illegible] Zeltfuchs; vice president, C. Koehler; secretary, Julius Seckler; financial secretary, H. A. Frise; treasurer, John Donnerberg; trustees, John Wagner, C. Dearkapp, Charles G. Schramm; visiting committee, Chas. Baumgarten, [illegible] and C. W. Bush.

NOVELTY IN MUSICAL ATTRACTIONS.—It required two policemen to keep the crowd from the front of Alisky's restaurant last evening. The Italian quintet, consisting of three violins, flute and harp, were playing in the restaurant, and that was the cause of it. Another concert will be given at Alisky's Saturday evening from 8 to 12.

YOUNG CATTLE TO IDAHO.—Yesterday the O. R. & N. took out [illegible] carloads of young cattle, mostly yearlings shipped by Nelson & Hornsife to Mountain Home, Idaho, about sixty miles east of Huntington. They were driven down from Marion county. This is the first rail shipment from the Willamette valley to our eastern neighbor.

DECISIONS TO BE ANNOUNCED.—Judge Smith will this morning in department No. 1 of the state circuit court, announce decisions in the case of Emil Weber vs. Eugene LaRoque, upon motion to strike out parts of the complaint, and in the case of Dan Sprague vs. H. Myer, upon the motion for a new trial.

OCEAN STEAMERS.—The Oregon sailed yesterday morning, and, if possible, will leave Portland on the evening of Monday, the 13th. It is expected to get the Columbia out from San Francisco on the 12th, and if so she will leave Portland on the Oregon's time, the 16th.

BRUNSWICK HALL.—D. N. Golding has leased this billiard hall and will place it in complete order for the future. The tables will be refurnished and the establishment made acceptable to gentlemen. Charles Ramos will be manager of the house.

SUNDAY AT THE SEASIDE.—The R. R. Thompson leaves Ash street to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock to accommodate parties desiring to spend Sunday at Astoria, Ilwaco or Clatsop beach. She returns on Sunday evening.

AT THE SEASIDE HOUSE.—List of arrivals at Seaside house Monday, July 6: R. E. Bran, wife and two children, Joseph [illegible] and wife, [illegible] Chaplin and wife, Mrs. W[illegible], [illegible] Grande, Oregon; F. [illegible], Astoria.

A Great Benefactor of Women

[illegible] Pinkham of Lynn, Mass. [illegible] the greatest benefactor of women [illegible] It has done me more good than all the Doctors," Mrs. F., of Vincennes, Ind., writes: "Having taken 11 bottles of your Vegetable Compound and cured by its use I feel very anxious that every woman afflicted with Womb Diseases should make use of it." Another lady in Birmingham, Mich., was suffering from weakness and displacements. She says: "I began taking your Compound and it helped me so soon I feel like proclaiming to the world its great virtues as a healing agent for women."

SETTLING UP MATTERS

The Fourth of July Committee Award Prizes, Audit Bills and Thank those who Aided in Making the Celebration a Success.

The committee who had charge of the celebration on the Fourth met last evening to award prizes, audit bills and close up the business connected with the affair generally. The meeting was presided over by C. H. Dodd.

The parties who contracted with the committee to make a balloon ascension were present and were called on for an explanation of their failure.

They claimed that the baloon has been properly constructed in every respect, but from some mistake in preparing the paint with which it was coated, it "chalked" off to such an extent that it wouldn't hold the gas, and from that cause alone was owing the failure to ascend. He also stated that they had repaired the canvass, and would be able to make the ascension if the committee desired them to do so. After considering the matter it was decided by the committee not to take any action on the question.

A vote of thanks was tendered Hon. Matthew P. Deady for his patriotic and able oration, and it was ordered that 5000 copies be printed for distribution.

A vote of thanks was also tendered H. H. Northup for his able reading of the Declaration of Independence, to Lieutenant C. R. S. Wood for valuable service rendered the committee and for the commendable manner in which the procession was conducted, and to Dr. W. V. [illegible] for his kindness in permitting the entire school of cadets to attend the celebration and join in the procession. F. F. Beach was instructed to draw warrants on the treasurer for the following bills. These warrants can be obtained by calling at Mr. Beach's office, No. 103 Front street, this afternoon.

The award of a prize for a four-oared scull race was referred to the committee on awards for investigation, with instructions to report the result of the inquiry to the general committee at its next meeting.

On motion the committee adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

STATE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

ASTORIA, July 8.

MORNING SESSION, THIRD DAY.

The institute started in on its work at 9 30. There was not so large an attendance as was anticipated on opening, but the teachers and patrons of education generally came in, and in a short time the hall was comfortably filled. Many new arrivals have presented themselves this morning and made their presence felt and appreciated by resolving themselves into active workers and potent factors. Following is the programme as presented and carried out in this session:

General discussion: "Language, Methods. How much Technical Grammar?" was introduced by Professor Lane of Salem, who, in as few words as possible, expressed his disapprobation of a system of grammar where the exceptions are more prominent than the rules that have an application. The discussion being opened, the following ladies and gentlemen treated of it: Mrs. McDaniels of Yamhill county, Miss Turner of Wisconsin, who sounded the keynote, and entertained her hearers by giving applicable methods of teaching language without being confined to grammatical rules; also Mrs. [illegible] of Astoria, Rev. M. L. Rugg of Salem, Professors [illegible] of Washington county, [illegible] firm for teaching pupils to speak correctly and prove its correctness), Wetzel of East Portland, Hawthorn of Eugene, and Johnson, Miller and Baird of Clackamas county. A most noticeable feature in the discussion was the entire absence of an advocate of Sill's grammar or formulated principles by any author. Oral teaching of [illegible] own method seemed to find favor.

Prof. Parvin was next introduced who entertained his hearers with a well-selected solo.

Mrs. Julia F. McDaniel was then introduced by Prof. McElroy and read a carefully prepared essay on "Parents in the School Room." Mrs. McD. is a live and energetic worker for the [illegible] are being treated of. Her subject was well sustained. "Parents can advance the cause very much by visiting the schools and seeing [illegible] pupils and teachers properly perform the duties devolving on them." A recess of fifteen minutes was then taken, when C. E. Moor, superintendent of the blind school, Salem, was introduced and read a carefully prepared essay on "Education Through the Senses." Mr. Moor handled his subject in a masterly manner and showed conclusively that he is thoroughly imbued with practical educational ideas through remaining senses in the absence of one. His statistical facts were very impressive and worthy of digestion. He said: "The nation requires schools—not schools supported by charitable donations, but schools forming a part of our great school system. Encouragement should be given them to develop the senses: they must be taught to do something for themselves. [illegible] those who help themselves."

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Prof. Z. M. Parvin read a thoroughly profitable and complete essay on "Progressive Music." After giving some very practical illustrations on the black-board, he dwelt some little time on the advantages to be derived from the study of music.

Professor McElroy next introduced Professor N. Davis of Forest Grove public schools, who presented "Elements in our Common School System." Professor Davis is a young man in age, but not in experience or thorough knowledge. He presented his topic in a manner calculated to breed envy in the breasts of [illegible] [illegible] old and established reformers [illegible] is considered a valuable acquisition. He asked [illegible] question which is strongly [illegible] things as they really are. "Schools are [illegible] an average of four and a half months [illegible] in this state, can you conscientiously [illegible] teacher to instruct your children [illegible] training than that? We require a system of teacher making as well as a system of instruction for our youth."

On calling the institute to order, Professor McElroy introduced Professor J. Emery of the state agricultural college, who spoke on "The Importance of Moral Culture in our Schools." Professor Emery led his hearers on in the proper channel by his pertinent and well-timed remarks, such as "none but those with clean hands and pure hearts should be entrusted with the instruction of the young. The moral part of man requires educating, without which we lack the motive power necessary to insure success. The downfall of some great men should convey to us a lesson in moral delinquency. As we become educated do we become religious and advance in morals in proportion? Do we not have more murders, embezzlements and delinquencies? With the present ratio of crime, etc., if you find it necessary to introduce a new code of morals in our school system, you must go to the lowest grades and work to the highest in your colleges. Let us feel that the children are our jewels—a type of this precious work. Let us start on the bed lament and view with horror the disasters brought about by the lack of a proper code of morals."

Immediately following the lecture of Professor Emery a set of resolutions bearing upon the effects of alcohol and narcotics on the human system was presented by Professor Miller. It was discussed by several. Professor Lane wanted to know if college faculties were to adopt it. [illegible] resolution was put to a vote and carried without dissent.

"The True Work of a Teacher" was next read from a carefully prepared essay by Miss A. [illegible] of Portland. The manner of its reading indicated a close intimacy with the subject.

"The Study of American History in the Public Schools" was next introduced by Prof. R. [illegible] [illegible] of the state [illegible] which were supplemented by [illegible] remarks.

[illegible] Prof. M. [illegible] the lesson and which is worthy of [illegible]. When the legislature [illegible] a part [illegible] of morals [illegible] they forgot to say anything about politeness.

EVENING SESSION.

Over 300 teachers and [illegible] in attendance. By 8 o'clock the hall, like the preceding evening, was comfortably filled, with standing room at a premium. Too much cannot be said of the kindness and innumerable courtesies extended [illegible] to entertain and otherwise accommodate in a royal manner, and have succeeded. Prof. Cressy and Miss Bredell rendered a choice selection of instrumental music, when the session was formally opened by Prof. McElroy, who introduced Rev. Dr. Garner of Astoria, who lectured on "American Literature," and acquitted himself in a clear, concise manner. Dr. Thomson was the appointed lecturer, but being in a feeble condition, was excused by request. Dr. Garner said in substance: "America, it has been claimed, has no literature, but it has." He discoursed for nearly an hour to his attentive audience, and received their approval. He is an eloquent gentleman.

A quartette was then rendered in an approving manner.

Next came an essay by Mrs. Martin of Astoria called "Our Aims in Education." An educator of a pronounced type—heart as well as head—are the true essentials of a good teacher. Business in all its complex forms demands qualifications.

While this part of the proceedings is being recorded the fire bell rang out an alarm which worked consternation on the audience, and which was with difficulty prevented being a wild panic. About 700 persons were in the auditorium, about 300 went out when the alarm was sounded. The self-possession of Prof. McElroy is commendable. Quiet being restored, the exercises proceeded, commencing with a duet. Miss Blanche Bell of Salem, was next introduced, who presented an amusing recitation in the shape of a "Candle Lecture," taking Prof. McElroy as the interesting center-piece. The predicament can very well be imagined in which he found himself.

A duet was then given by the Misses White and Anderson, which was well rendered.

Arrangements were perfected for the excursion to various points in the bay; 200 or more have signified their intentions of going on the morrow. Adjourned. G. D.

THE EAST SIDE.

Mrs. H. C. Hill has gone to Ashland for a few weeks.

Mrs. Charles Fernau and family have gone to the coast.

J. L. Sperry, wife and family have gone to the mountains in the vicinity of Eagle creek for several weeks.

The plank roadway on Fourth street, between I and J, is in the last stage of dilapidation, and dangerous to travel.

T. C. Smith, of Smith & Storm let an iron pump fall on and mash the middle finger of his left hand, Wednesday.

A large band of cattle passed through here yesterday from Independence en route to Idaho via the Northern Pacific.

Firemen continue to practice for the August tournament, but it is unnecessary and undesirable to give the particulars of every drill.

Thomas Dennan was charged before Justice Coleman yesterday for threatening to kill. He waived examination, and was released on furnishing the required bonds.

By a runaway accident at Chauncey Ball's place, near Mount Tabor, on Wednesday, one of his children was severely cut and bruised about the face by being thrown from the wagon, and the latter was wrecked.

Charley, a little son of George Smith of Stephens' addition, was taken down with a severe congestive chill Wednesday evening, rendering him unconscious, but [illegible] rallied under the proper treatment.

The awakening the streets in the business portion of the city to be cleaned at least once a week has had a salutary effect as far as the cleanliness of the streets is concerned, but not so much can be said concerning the time and manner of the cleaning. This is done by sweeping without sprinkling, and being commenced before 9 o'clock in the evening, while streets are crowded with people and doors and windows are open, it is a positive nuisance at the present dry season. If no remedy can be provided for protection against the dust, of course, it is more important that the streets should be cleaned than that the people should suffer in consequence thereof, as the latter can look out for themselves while the former cannot, and the matter must be considered as a necessary evil.

Willie Lyons, aged 6 years, son of James Lyons, the stable keeper, met with a peculiar and fortunate accident yesterday afternoon. While an employe named Platt was driving a truck loaded with a cord and a quarter of wood up Sixth street, he insisted on boarding the vehicle, notwithstanding the objections of the driver. He was made to get off once, but got on again unobserved by the driver. He was standing on the side of the truck between the wheels when a sudden jolt at the intersection of Sixth street caused him to fall overboard, the hind wheel passing over his body. By a lucky circumstance, however, the cavity of a drain happened to be where he fell, and he lay snugly in this while the wheel passed over him in a diagonal direction from just below the left shoulder to the right knee. The places indicated being more elevated than his body received a slight pressure, but the latter escaped uninjured. His injuries consisted of a flesh wound about six inches long on his arm and another about two inches long under his knee, the latter being caused by the penetration of something lying under his leg. The driver conveyed him to the stable corner of Fifth and L streets where Dr. [illegible] attended him, and thence to his home.

COURT [illegible]

[illegible], for threatening to kill a fellow [illegible], has been held to answer before the grand jury, with bonds at $500.

In the case of Eastman & McClure vs. Geo. C. Larocque, defendant, and J. T. Apperson, garnishee, the latter has been ordered to appear in court July 14, at 11 A. M., to answer under oath concerning property.

L. W. Gilliland yesterday began suit against C. W. Friendly to recover $867. In 1881 Chas. [illegible] & Co. sold to Friendly goods to the value of $668 78, and have since assigned their claim to the plaintiff, who now sues for the principal and interest.

Judge Stearns yesterday authorized D. P. Thompson, as receiver of the Holladay estate, to commence suit against the Phoenix Insurance company of Brooklyn, New York, to recover $5000 insurance for damage by fire to the Clarendon hotel, over a year ago.

The trial of Wong Foon, for the murder of Ing Hee, will begin in the state circuit court today. Hon. Rufus Mallory and James Gleason will assist District Attorney Caton in the prosecution and Hons. J. C. Moreland and George L. Woods will conduct the defense.

A SUGGESTION.

PORTLAND, July 9.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

During the past few weeks there have been tendered by the Portland people benefits to various favorites of the theater going public, and the people have responded generously by large and enthusiastic audiences, but in this round of benefits there has been a seeming oversight on the part of the movers in such matters in failing to tender to Mr. Harry Gates a benefit. In view of this I would suggest that a bonquet benefit be tendered to Mr. Gates, and that Mrs. Gates (Miss Hattie Moore) be especially requested to join in the performance, so that music lovers may have an opportunity of hearing Miss Moore, while paying a deserved compliment to Mr. Gates. COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, July 9.

Up to yesterday morning very warm weather ruled. Since that time the skies have been clouded with some appearance of rain. A light rain fell at Linnton this morning. Crops have advanced greatly under a warm sun and cutting is reported in all directions with some threshing in the eastern section.

There is now listed to arrive at this port eight vessels. Of this number one loads for New York, one loads salmon and two are probably taken for wheat loading. At this time last year 23,983 tons were listed, and in 1883 the figure was 58,969. In 1883-84 we required tonnage to the amount of 94,680 tons to carry 159,113 short tons wheat and flour. To move the coming crop from 128 to 142 vessels would be required, presuming there is to be 250,000 to 280,000 tons to ship. With only eight listed there remains a very large amount to attract. Exporters tell us they know of none coming other than is listed but that a considerable quantity could be brought from Australia if this market afforded a market for coal. Since this is not so, vessels must either come in ballast direct at a rate high enough to cover ballast expenses or come via San Francisco in ballast after discharging inward cargo there. Owners claim 10s here over San Francisco rates does not pay them to come up in ballast. A glance at the tonnage listed for San Francisco and in port shows that of the latter but five of the sixty-one arrived in ballast and of those on the way less than that proportion comes from ballast ports. Just now the Oregon list is all from cargo ports, but this is an unusual occurrence. It is easy to see to what extent this ballast bringing is against rates out of this port. Port charges are not such as to warrant ships in demanding 10 to 15 shillings over San Francisco rates, but the cost of getting wheat to San Francisco renders this demand possible. As a rule shippers have taken freely during the summer months of tonnage to arrive. The present is a notable exception for well understood reasons and the exception is not singular to this port, for San Francisco shippers have done practically nothing in this way. Wheat will soon begin to move here and sellers will want money for it. There being a promised scarcity of tonnage at least for early loading it must go to San Francisco. The rate by steamer is $2 50 per ton, which with cartage charges equals about 15c per cental. Wheat is quoted $1 40@1 42½ per cental there. Walla Walla grades ought to bring the inside figure, which would net about $1 25 here, profits of handling not considered. The transportation company now run steamers at intervals of four days. This should permit shipments of about 10,000 tons of grain per month if the business proves profitable. An opposition steamer is promised and more coasters are now running. These must have freight both ways, for if rates are to be cut the profits of transportation are little or nothing. The Oregon Railway and Navigation Company is in a position to retain the cream of the business as they will be able to give a low through rate in the event of healthy competition. For the benefit of the port it is hoped that direct shipments may be made foreign. Ships are profitable visitors and local exporters are then enabled to secure any profit which by shipping to San Francisco others would get. Just now the whole situation is one of wait. It is very probable that tonnage will be drawn here later on. In the meantime little will probably be done other than send us a limited quantity of grain to San Francisco. The tonnage problem will doubtless work itself out in time, but before it does the port as well as grain sellers must be satisfied with less money. Of late the California export business has dwindled to small proportions, the unsatisfactory condition of the markets abroad, high demands of home sellers and a fairly firm freight market, in spite of a large open list giving exporters no opportunity for business. On Monday of this week eleven vessels were in loading berth, two of them on owner's account and one laid on. One other is waiting new crop. The open spot list was 93,461 tons against 131,776 tons one year ago and the en route list 189,067 against 232,437 one year ago. The state will have somewhere near a million short tons to ship, including the hold over quantity. There will be no scarcity of tonnage in the first half of the year. Last rates paid for iron were 35s 6d for orders and certainly that or very little more money would secure new supplies. The last rate paid here was 47s 6d for the same voyage. This is more than the usual variation but was rendered possible by existing circumstances. What rates in the near future are to be is not at all clear. Much depends upon the course of the market at San Francisco.

Overland receipts include 800 cs coal oil, [illegible] turpentine, 201 pkgs tobacco, 5 cs cigars, [illegible] cs cigarettes, 16 cs syrup, 2 cs maple do, 4 cs mustard.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Last 4 hours: 1095 ctls wheat, 315 bbls flour, 2263 ctls oats, 203 ctls bran, 203 ctls millstuff, 21 sks potatoes, 37,904 lbs wool, 627 lbs hides, 113 cs eggs, 13 pkgs butter. Also 10,678 ctls wheat, 1,000 bbls flour, 121 ctls oats, 1,880 ctls barley, 4675 lbs wool, 100 lbs hides from the eastern section.

EXPORTS—Per steamer Columbia for San Francisco: 857 ctls wheat, 8 ctls barley, [illegible] ctls oats, 309 bales, [illegible] lb wool, 400 sks bran, 104 sks shorts, 400 gr 384 hf sks flour, [illegible] 10 dry hides, [illegible] bbls [illegible], [illegible] deerskins, 1 sk tails, 1 bl sheepskins, 16 bls calfskins, [illegible] bbls beef, [illegible] cs cassimeres, 3 cs flannels, [illegible] cs cider, 8 cs eggs, [illegible] hf bbls, [illegible] kgs butter, 4 cls rope, [illegible] bdls oak hoop pole, 161 bdls hazel do, 1000 bdls lath, 25 cook stoves, $14,150 treasure.

FREIGHTS—The Haddingtonshire sailed with flour and salmon. The Archer completed her cargo and the Elma wheat cargo in the week. The Carnarvon Castle going to Astoria for salmon. The Kitty is awaiting new wheat and the Haldee is just beginning to count lay days. There being no arrivals the open spot list remains nil. In futures nothing is reported and the whole situation continues stagnant except as to loading.

WHEAT—The movement continues steady and largely for San Francisco account. Eight cars of new wheat from Spofford station near Walla Walla are due to-night and this is the immediate forerunner of a steady movement. The lot will probably go into ship now here. New valley will hardly move this month. The market may be quoted at $1 30 for valley and $1 20 for Walla Walla. In valley no sales are reported for shipping account and millers have taken very little, a dull flour market calling for rather less grinding. If any Walla Walla has been sold it was in a quiet way. One interior firm is now sending 1000 tons to San Francisco and others are sending smaller quantities. In the English market California cargoes off coast are quoted 35s, a slightly better price than last week. Other sorts are unchanged. The general course of the market has been steady yet very quiet. New York and Chicago have fluctuated within about two cents, noon prices at Chicago to-day being ⅛c lower than last Thursday except September which is 1⅛c lower. Opening prices to-day at New York are ⅛ to ⅜c lower than last Thursday. At San Francisco business continues stagnant, buyers and sellers being at a complete dead lock.

The aggregate supply of wheat in sight in the United States exclusive of California and Oregon, and Canada, July 4 was 37,947,[illegible] bushels and that of corn 6,5[illegible] bushels against on the preceding weekly exhibit an aggregate of 37,330,400 bushels wheat and 3,506,300 bushels corn and a year ago 14,22[illegible],200 bushels wheat and 7,750,400 bushels corn.

FLOUR—Market very quiet, the local demand being light. As a rule the mills have fair stocks and are running light. One vessel with 12,000 bbls sailed foreign and the Archer has filled up with 13,138 bbls. Standards quoted $4 25 less usual trade discount [illegible].

MILLSTUFFS—Of late considerable has gone to San Francisco [illegible] request running light. Values are [illegible] change. Quote jobbing values: bran $17@[illegible], shorts $[illegible]@[illegible], middlings $18@20.

BARLEY—The local trade is freely supplied. Buyers for shipment have done less [illegible] movement showing more of a consignment business. A weaker market below gives no margin. In a purely local way feed is quoted $16@18 and brewing $20, but at these figures will not permit shipments.

OATS—The movement shows no marked falling off and with weaker advices the market is lower to sell in. Offerings far exceed local request, dealers bidding down to [illegible] for best feed. More than this is possible only for milling. Shipments now are almost wholly for consignment account. Quote best feed 35@[illegible]c, fair 30@[illegible]c, poor [illegible]@[illegible]c.

POTATOES—Supplies quite ample, and the bulk of dealing is in new local, which bring 50c. California selling at 60c; sweets 6c.

ONIONS—California selling at [illegible] decline from last week.

TROPICAL FRUITS—Common Tahiti oranges [illegible] lower last in selling at $[illegible]; lemons advanced to $[illegible]; limes $1 [illegible]; bananas $[illegible]; cocoanuts [illegible].

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES—Local apples [illegible] are not in general use. California apples $1 [illegible] and pears $1; peaches quoted 90c [illegible]; tomatoes [illegible]; peach plums [illegible]; [illegible] 30@[illegible]c; corn [illegible] per dozen; cucumbers [illegible] per box; beans [illegible] per [illegible]; cabbage 1½c; cauliflower $1 [illegible].

BUTTER—Stock large of common; choice selling up quite close. Quote choice dairy [illegible]@[illegible]c, common [illegible], poor [illegible]@[illegible]c.

POULTRY—Chickens weaker under free stocks: [illegible] old $5 00@5 50, young $1 50@2, with $2 50 [illegible] for choice large. Ducks nominal at $5, geese $6@[illegible]. The request for all kinds is [illegible].

EGGS—Late arrivals include many in poor condition.

HAY—The growing crop does well, and is fast ripening. Some timothy has been cut. The market shows no improvement as plenty of old is offered at $9@10. Lower grades $6 [illegible].

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 9.—Governments quiet, firm and unchanged. Stocks have been decidedly more active to-day, especially during the forenoon. The activity was accompanied by a decided advance in prices. The market opened strong, and with the exception of a slight reaction in some stocks continued strong until nearly 1 o'clock, when the highest prices of the day were made, which were generally from ⅛ to 1⅛ per cent above closing figures of last evening. Pacific Mail was weakest, gaining [illegible]. In the afternoon the market became more quiet, slowly declining, in many cases all the early advances being lost.

"Blood will Tell."

Yes, the old adage is right, but if the blood is corrupted and the blood becomes thoroughly corrupted, the bad blood will tell in diseases of the skin and throat, in tumors and ulcers and in tubercles in the lungs (first stages of consumption) even although the subject be descended in a straight line from Richard Cœur de Lion, or the noblest Roman of them all. For setting the liver in order no other medicine in the world equals Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Try it, and your "blood will tell" the story of its wonderful efficacy.

Agreeable to Take.

No medicine is so agreeable to take as Hamley's Celery, Beef and Iron. Thousands drink it daily to keep themselves well and strong.

DR. LINDSLEY'S SPEECH

There was no representative from California. The state of Oregon being called, Dr Lindsley answered:

Mr. President: The Pacific coast takes this opportunity to respond to the Atlantic cheer of welcome. Your welcome is very broad and comprehensive. It is national as well as metropolitan. It is as fragrant as the breath of our own boundless forests. We enter this conference with high hopes of its usefulness. The whole country needs its influence on the one hand as a salutary check upon the extravagance of crude opinions which are everywhere prevalent, and on the other, as a spur to progress in the right direction. We are making progress in the discussion of such subjects as prison discipline, convict labor, the intellectual and moral qualifications of jurymen, the character of judges, and the regulation of sentences which shall remove them of the odious features of caprice, and of relative injustice. We are discussing also the object of punishment as a restraint on criminals and the suppression of crime, whether the end sought is the infliction of pain for retribution, or the protection of society and the reformation of the criminal.

These are subjects which engage the minds of the thoughtful and benevolent. The classification of prisoners is also receiving attention on the whole coast. There exists the outrage of putting witnesses in jail that they may be ready when wanted. The same is true of accused persons committed for trial who may be innocent. It they have money or friends they can go out on bail, but if they are poor or strangers the charter liberty of American citizens is slain on the threshold of the temple of justice.

On the subject of juvenile delinquency we are not idle. In Oregon we have an excellent law for a reform school, and a gentleman of Portland, Hon. Wm. S. Ladd, tendered a liberal endowment of lands and buildings, but the whole was wrecked by growing doubts of the expediency of the system known as the reform school. We come here for information based on approved and comprehensive experience. In the meantime we are caring for vagrant and helpless children in asylums and free kindergartens. Homes for the friendless open hospitable doors for the relief of adults as well as helpless little ones. A delegate from these institutions is a member of this conference.

At this time, while this convention is in session, we are organizing a Children's Aid Society, over which we hope to place Governor Moody as president. Under a state law we take the young vagrants and criminals and find homes for them in the country where they will be taught to be moral and industrious, and take a respectable place in society.

Under state control we have asylums for the insane, for deaf mutes, for the blind. We have also an industrial school for Indian youth of both sexes, which is as successful as any can be. And different religious societies are carrying on evening schools and Sunday schools for the Chinese.

On the general subject of charities we report that there are many intelligent and philanthropic people on the Pacific coast, and they have accomplished much for the relief of the erring and the unfortunate. But we lack the moral power of associated effort. Over the broad area of states and territories we have no visible bond of union.

Much ignorance prevails on the whole subject of charities. While men wait and ruminate, blessed women act! They stir up the recumbent oxen and put on them the yoke of charity, and work the miracle of mercy that makes the milk of human kindness flow. The whole coast is indebted for its voluntary charitable institutions to the ministry of women.

In closing this report I make a few remarks which are within the purview of my commission to this conference.

We want the inspiration of this convention's presence on the Pacific coast. We are waiting the wise words spoken here to be uttered in our hearing.

We are waiting for the practical illustration of sound theories and philosophic views which obtain currency here. They voice thoughts which are not strangers, and express in different phrase sentiments and suggestions which have found utterance among us. It shows that the supreme mind is leading us to the same considerations, and making our aims one, may the same unanimity crown our measures and conclusions.

I am not commissioned to speak for California, but know many of her prominent men noted for their benevolence. Governor Perkins of California is president of the Children's Aid Society and takes great interest in its progress and management.

I can assure you of a welcome as cordial and as cosmopolitan as you are receiving here, whenever you meet, in California or Oregon. Our welcome shall be as genuine as the virgin gold in our mountains, as broad as the Pacific sea.

And our Pacific railways, on which it is a luxury to travel, will take you on its wings like an eagle, and treat you with princely liberality, and we will show you a land worthy of the wisest consideration of your benevolent talents.

Spermatorrhea and Impotency, as the result of self-abuse in youth, sexual excess in mature years, or other causes, and producing some of the following effects: Nervousness, Seminal Emissions (night emissions by dreams), Dimness of Sight, Defective Memory, Physical Decay, Pimples on Face, Aversion to Society of Females, Confusion of Ideas, Loss of Sexual Power, &c., rendering marriage improper or unhappy, are thoroughly and permanently cured. SYPHILIS positively cured and entirely eradicated from the system. Gonorrhea, GLEET, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia (or Rupture), Piles and other private diseases quickly cured.

It is self-evident that a physician who pays special attention to a certain class of diseases, and treating thousands annually, acquires great skill. Physicians knowing this fact often recommend persons to my care. When it is inconvenient to visit the city for treatment, medicines can be sent privately and safely by mail or express anywhere.

Cures Guaranteed in all Cases undertaken.

Consultations personally or by letter free and invited. Charges reasonable and correspondence strictly confidential.
